

EDUC 251: Diversity in Society and Education
Fall 2006
Julie R. Alexandrin, Ph.D.
SAINT JOSEPH COLLEGE, West Hartford, CT 06117

Instructor Contact Information
Phone: (860) 231-5362 Email: jalexandrin@sjc.edu	Office: Lourdes, #3 Office Hours: Mondays (2:30-3:30pm); Thursdays (10:30-11:30am); and by appointment.

Course Description: This course focuses on four major themes: 1) The students' own stereotypes, biases and culture, what they are and where they come from; 2) Isms (including racism, ablism, chistianism, sexism, nationalism and agism) and how they are played out in our society and within interactions and expectations of others; and 3) English language acquisition, and bilingual and ESL education; 4) How all these aspects interact in an educational setting. Included in these discussions and critical analysis will be how our society and our own interactions marginalizes and oppresses certain groups, especially looking at the GLBTQ (Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, transgender, questioning) population and people from the low socioeconomic communities, as they are the most oppressed and persecuted in our society today. The course is a hybrid course, meaning that it has both in class and asynchronous online sessions. Field study required.

This Course is aligned with the vision, mission, and goals of the Education/Special Education Department: The constructive nature of this course facilitates inquiry, reflection, and critical thinking. Candidates develop an awareness of their own stereotypes and biases, cultural identity processes, English language acquisition, and what it is like to be a child in a classroom that is from the nondominant culture, and how to support ALL students in their classrooms.

General Education Program - Integral Skills

Oral Communication – small group exercises in class where students will state their opinions, and support them; and discuss with other students differing opinions

Written Communication - Reading Responses, Threaded Discussions online, and Reflection Paper

Critical thinking – Self analysis of own stereotypes, biases and cultures; comparing and contrasting own beliefs and others' beliefs in written and oral modes; analysis of how isms in our society affect our actions and thoughts, consciously and unconsciously

Collaboration – Group midterm, class assignments in small groups

Academic Integrity Policy:

Academic integrity is the responsibility a student assumes for honestly representing all academic work. This responsibility implies the student will in no way either misrepresent her or his work or unfairly advance her or his academic status and will neither encourage nor assist another student in so doing. Academic work includes quizzes, tests, mid-term examinations, final examinations, research projects, take-home assignments, laboratory work, and all other forms of oral or written academic endeavor. (Full policy located in Undergraduate Curriculum Committee Public Folder) (12/03)

Disability Services:

At Saint Joseph College, we value our diverse community. The Disabilities Service Coordinator, Katie Thibault is here to facilitate academic success for all students with special needs by arranging reasonable accommodations. In addition, please feel free to talk to the professor about needed accommodations and adaptations.

December 5 Sharing of Class Summaries and Summary of the Class

Due – Class Summaries

Class Requirements

1) Class participation, online assignments, homework exercises, and attendance	15%
2) Self Awareness Paper	10%
3) Community Experiences	13%
4) Reading Responses	20%
5) Class Midterm	10%
6) Bilingual/ESL Classroom Project	27%
Journal	5%
Teacher Evaluation	2%
Reflection Paper	20%
7) Class Summary	5%
	Total 100%

All work is due by December 8th
No work will be accepted after that point.

Requirements Explained

1) Class Participation, inclass assignments, homework exercises, and attendance - Classes will be greatly interactive and will require all types of participation. Therefore, everyone will have the opportunity to contribute in their own ways. Part of class participation is coming prepared to each class by completing assigned exercises and readings, and bringing assigned reading materials to class. It will be your responsibility to contact the professor to tell her if you will not be in class and to get your make up assignments outside of class, including class handouts. For each assignment online there will be at least one discussion board. To be able to get full credit for the assignment you need to enter at least three entries in each discussion board. The entries need to be thoughtful in reflecting back on the readings or assignment connected to the discussion board, and show response to other entries on the discussion board.

2) Self Awareness Paper - You will write a paper (3 to 5 pages in length) on who you are. The paper should include: 1) How you see yourself culturally and socially, 2) How you feel others see you culturally and socially, 3) What your beliefs are, 4) Who you would make a point of not socializing with and/or feel uncomfortable socializing with, and 5) Why do you think you see yourself in these ways. The first version of the paper will be due the second class, September 3rd.

At the end of the semester you will edit your paper making changes by striking out text (and still leaving in the body of the paper) and adding new text in another color (or underline) to show the changes in how you perceive yourself after the semester (so save the first copy on a disk). The edited copy should also include a paragraph explaining why you think you see yourself differently or why not. The edited paper will be due at the end of the semester on December 5th.

3) Community Experiences – You will be required to go to two community experiences or events that are not part of your “normal” culture or experiences or with people you usually do not associate with. These should not be events that you would go to normally. It is time to stretch yourself. You can go to an arts event, cultural event, festival, religious service, etc.. However, it needs to be an event where you interact with people, i.e., if you go alone to an art exhibit and just look at the art, that is not acceptable. However, if you go to an art exhibit that has a group tour or discussion session that you partake in, that would be fine. The event can be off or on campus.

You should plan to spend at least 1 1/2 to 2 hours at each event or experience. If you are not sure if the event is appropriate please check with Dr. Alexandrin first. Have fun and explore new places for you. You need to hand-in a write up for each event. The following should be included in each write up: 1) What the event or experience is and why it is different for you, 2) What you felt the event or experience was going to be before you go, and why you felt this way (this part should be written up before you go), 3) A description of what happened at the event (this should be a summary of no more than a full page in length), 4) Would you recommend the event or experience to other people, why? and 5) What you learned or gained from the experience. Due – Tuesday, November 14th.

4) Reading Responses – Each week you are expected to write a one to two page response on how you feel about the readings due for that week and how they relate to your life and/or teaching. You will be graded on how well you state and support your feelings, opinions and insights about the reading. The professor is not looking for a summary of the reading, but your feelings, opinions, and insights about it. There are no right or wrong feelings, opinions or insights as long as they are well supported. Responses should be clearly written with correct grammar and spelling. You may choose to base your responses on all the assigned reading for each week in general, one reading, or a particular part of one. There are a total of twelve (12) Reading Responses due for the semester.

5) Class Midterm – You will be working on this exam in groups of two or three that will be established the second class. The midterm will be based on Bilingual Education, Language Acquisition and cultural identity development. It will be mostly in a case study format.

It will be an open book and note exam online. You will be able to access the exam Sunday, October 1st, and have until the following Sunday, October 8th, to submit your answers.

6) Bilingual/ESL Project – You will need to locate an ESL, Bilingual or ELL classroom (or community site for noncertification students) to work in for at least fifteen (15) hours throughout the semester. It needs to be in a priority community (see list below). (For certification students - You are required to pick a grade level you are getting certified to teach.)

Bilingual/ESL Placement Writeups – You will write up the first two parts of the Reflection paper: 1) A detailed description of the school and the community it is in, and 2) A detailed description of the ESL, ELL, or Bilingual Program. The first part should describe the community and school in enough detail that a person not from CT would get an understanding of what the community and school are like, socioeconomically, ethnically and languages spoken. You can then use the edited version for your reflection paper due at the end of the semester. Due – Tuesday, September 26th.

Journal - You will record a summary of each of your times in the classroom, including the documentation of the dates and time you were there. These summaries are informal and can be written how you want; bulleted, paragraph or other. Spelling and grammar will not count and the journal can be handwritten or typed. The journal is a way for you to record what happened when in the classroom so that you can reflect on it later. It is also a way to document to the professor the time you spent in the school.

Supervisor Evaluation – Your cooperating teacher will be asked to return a short questionnaire about your participation in the classroom directly to the professor (see attached). You are responsible for making sure the teacher fills out the form and returns it to the professor.

Reflection Paper – You will be asked to write a paper (no longer than 10 pages and at least 5 in length) that examines what you observed in your classroom experiences and what theories and aspects of ESL, bilingual and/or ELL education you saw or did not see in the classroom and why. The following areas should be covered: 1) A detailed description of the school/center and the community it is in (Enough information should be given so that a person not living in CT would know what the school and community are like) , 2) A detailed description of the Program you are in, 3) A detailed description of the setting, participants, and teacher(s)/leader(s) you worked with, 4) What good practices you saw in the program and why do you think this, 5) What not so good practices you saw in the program and why do you think this, 6) Your reflection of working in the program, and 7) How this experience has helped prepare you, or not, for your future working with adults and children. Due December 8th.

7) Class Summary – As a review, and the combining of all you have learned in this course, you are asked to represent in words, pictures, diagrams, flow charts, etc, what you have learned in this course and how the different information and knowledge gained in this course comes together and is connected to your future career. You are free to do this representation of the course how you would like, use your imagination. However, it can not be done as a written summary or a research paper. Class Summaries will be graded on the following: 1) The knowledge of the different subject matters of the course is represented, 2) The knowledge of the course is connected, directly or indirectly, to your future career, and 3) High quality visual representation. Due – Tuesdays, December 5th.

Style of all outside of class written work submitted:

- Person First Language
- Double spaced
- Font size 12
- Pages numbered
- Abbreviations are written out the first time they are used in a paper
